FOREWORD

This is the 1955 edition of the RAM'S TALE, we have worked hard to make it the very best and biggest of all in this illustrious line of Tales.

We have tried to record the highlights of this school year 1954-55. If we have accidently omitted some activity that you think is important, we offer our sincere apologies. However, we invite you to turn the pages and enjoy yourself.

Lo—to the battle-ground of Life,
Child, you have come, like a conquering shout,
Out of a struggle—into strife;
Out of a darkness—into doubt.

Girt with the fragile armor of Youth,
Child, you must ride into endless wars,
With the sword of protest, the buckler of truth,
And a banner of love to sweep the stars.

About you the world's despair will surge;
Into defeat you must plunge and grope—
Be to the faltering an urge;
Be to the hopeless years a hope!

Be to the darkened world a flame;
Be to its unconcern a blow—
For out of its pain and tumult you came,
And into its tumult and pain you go.

—Louis Untermeyer

The Senior Class presented on November 12, the play: Room For One More. Directed by Miss Gordon. Although it was quite a bit of work, the entire cast agreed it was lots of fun.

As everyone knows Semester Exams are a time when everyone has to study. The January crammers are: Mary Hubbard, Eleanor Vander Jagt, Bob Spriggel, Mike Neuhaus

A typical February scene was a winter sports occasion. But, oh, the consequences as Joyce Totten and Sharon Graves will verify.

One of the highlights of the school year is the annual Career Day held in March. The success of this day is due to student leadership and participation alike.

Finally in April arrives the long awaited for Senior Trip. Boarding the school bus, eager to be on their way, for the train is due soon. They are: Bob Gedritis, Hal Skinner, John Willard, Charlene Pfeiffer, and Barb May.

May is the time for stardust in her eyes, soft music and moonlight, as Norma Ryan,and Jack Randall enjoy the Junior-Senior Prom.

June marks the end of our High School course with its academic and extra curricular activities, but it is also the commencement of our future where, "The Sky's the Limit". Congratulating each other are: Pat Warren, Donna Anderson, Ray Ealy and Dud Cox.

OUR HEARTS WERE YOUNG AND GAY

Cornelia and Emily, in a frenzy of excitement as they prepare to sail for Europe, are trying desperately hard to appear bored and accustomed to this sort of thing. The girls are determined to be completely independent. They have saved up their money and are off to sail on their own — anxious to prove how "mature" they have become.

Cornelia pictured herself "a women in black". But although she was trying to be so very sophisticated, her mother insists on calling her "Baby". They had an exciting adventure with a stowaway, mistake the leader of the ship's band for an admiral, take all sorts of fancy seasick remedies, and then meet two handsome young medical students.

ROOM FOR ONE MORE

The Pumpkin Shell was a tiny cottage by the ocean side. Poppy and Mother Rose could never say "no" to a homeless child no matter how hard it was to make ends meet. Janey their last addition was somewhat of a problem. But their biggest problem was Jimmie John, an unwanted little boy, who with braces on his legs came to live with them. Then in their hectic existence, tragedy strikes. Poppy succumbs to a heart attack. Mother Rose decides to sell the Pumpkin Shell to pay for Jimmie John's opera tions. Jimmie John runs away. CRAZY MAN, THIS GRADUATION

While I must confess that my personal contact with the language of youth is somewhat limited, if my informative sources be accurate, this pretty well sums up your feelings about graduation. Real crazy, the most !

And why not? For twelve years you've been learning, learning, learning . . . reaching for a goal. And you've succeeded. The goal is secured.

But now brace yourself, for life is about to deal you one of her typical backhanded slaps. This job you've done, this goal you've reached, becomes but a starting block for new accomplishments. You've earned the right to set new goals, to envision future successes and to go out and make them come true.

The warm-up is over. This is the starting gun. Conditioned with your twelve years of training your chances of winning in the race of life are good, mighty good. Keep the goal in sight. Keep running.

Good Luck !

Victor Krause
